

Humans are unique creations of God

The spark of life is NOT a documentation of human uniqueness

Humans are unique in many ways that can be proven genetically, historically and socially. We are not the product of evolution or there would be less-evolved humans. All humans are created equal and they don't have different rights depending on their origin, skin color or language

The spark of life is the product of a chemical process common to mammals. It shows common designer not common origin

The spark of life is unique to humans and it is a gift of God

The spark of life is present in mammals

There is nothing unique about humans and we are not creation of a god who doesn't exist anyway
